1. PROJECT DESCRIPTION

GIRL EDUCATION

Purpose: In rural areas, the education of girls is felt to be secondary, since they are needed to assist their mother in raising siblings when the parents go to work. Even in families where the girls go to school, there is a high drop out rate because of financial constraints of the family to buy uniforms and books. Studies show that girls who stay in school lead more productive and healthier lives their uneducated counterparts. A team of Rotarians visits the schools in _____ to obtain a list of girl student dropouts and their addresses. Rotarians meet with the parents and local school leaders to explain the importance of girl child education and to convince the parents to allow their daughters to go back to school. Discussions include discouraging the practice of early marriages. The project provides books and uniforms to 100 girls. A group of educated working women volunteers and Inner Wheel members meets with the girls to tell them the importance of education and self sufficiency. The girls receive reproductive health education, including AIDS prevention.

How will the project meet the needs of the community? Keeping girls in school helps the community by giving the girls an opportunity to contribute to the local economy by becoming literate. The girls are taught how to help support themselves. The role of being good mothers and the need to have an important role in the family when she gets married is discussed.

How will the host and international partners communicate and work together to implement this project? Please provide specific examples of activities. The partners communicate via e-mail on the progress of the project. The host partner will provide photos via the Internet to the international partner. The girls helped by the project write letters of appreciation to the international partner. (Optional) The members of the international host club may visit the project site and can help advise the members of the host club advise the recipients.
